13. What are the instructor's teaching strengths?

- I have no idea.
- presents material clearly. it is good that the tests are on the material that was covered in class, not a deviation from it.
- N/A
- She presents concepts in class through the use of definitions AND examples, instead of just teaching us theory like most of the other economics professors
- The instructor knows what she is talking about and is very knowledgeable about the topics.
- she was very friendly
- writing the information and lessons down helped a lot
- covers everything about macro economics
- When I ask for help, she is responsive and is good at explaining
- provides good notes
- Very knowledgeable and answers questions in class proving knowledge of subject.
- clear and focus
- very accessible
- The assignment really help me to know the material
- goes over concepts and ideas well
- Clear presentation of the class material, makes the student easier to understand.
- Able to deliver the materials in a way that students can understand easily
- she is nice
- she could last for the full 3 hours on some days.
- n/a
- I like how the professor writes out the notes with students during lecture.
- great at explaining concepts
- i don't know.
- The structure of the course is outlined and organized very well. The discussions are helpful and the problem-sets are also very helpful. However, I feel they should be graded on completeness rather than accuracy because most of the material in the assignments are from the lecture of that day.
